Program / Department Assessment Narrative

The primary purpose of assessment is to use data to inform decisions and improve programs (student learning) and departments (operations); this is an on-going process of defining goals and expectations, collecting results, analyzing data, comparing current and past results and initiatives, and making decisions based on these reflections. In the space below, describe the program's or department's overall plan for improving student learning and/or operations (the "assessment plan"). Consider the following:

- 1) What strategies exist to assess the outcomes?
- 2) What does the program/department expect to achieve with the goals and objectives identified above?
- 3) How might prior or current initiatives (improvements) influence the anticipated outcomes this year?
- 4) What is the plan for using data to improve student learning and/or operations?
- 5) How will data be shared within the Program/Department (and, where appropriate, the College/VP-area)?

Assessment Process

Assessment results are immediately available and shared with all faculty in the unit, and shared periodically (2-4 times per cycle) with the Department Head, Associate Dean/Dean, as well as Department and College Assessment Committees, and are discussed informally with other appropriate faculty where necessary.

Analysis/interpretation of data regarding outcomes from previous years indicates developed assessment instruments generally perform well, and outcomes appear reasonably dependent upon order of exposition of course material. Reordering/restructuring of course content as implemented over several cycles has resulted in greater numbers and proportion of students successfully meeting particular targets and/or partially-met targets, suggesting continued monitoring of the order/structure of exposition of material, as well as the overall assessment plan and rubrics, is more likely to support continued satisfaction/improvement in program goals/objectives. Proper ordering/framing of topics has been found to be important to obtained results as well as allowing for potential unforeseen/unavoidable faculty time conflicts.
