M.A. Comprehensive Examination

Successful completion of the M.A. Examination in English is required of all degree candidates on the non-thesis track, except TESOL. Offered each regular semester, the examination consists of a threeand-a-half hour comprehensive written portion and a one-hour oral. A student may take the oral examination only after passing the written examination. The student must pass both the written and the oral components to satisfy the degree requirements.

The written examination consists of two components. The first, which is standard for all examinees, is devised and evaluated by the faculty M.A. Examinations Committee according to a prescribed format. This format is posted in the English Department office. The second component, which is tailored to reflect each student's program of graduate courses, is devised and evaluated by the student's faculty advisory committee. The student must pass both components to pass the written portion of the M.A. Examination and thus be eligible to stand for the oral portion, which is comprehensive and is conducted by the student's advisory committee. Students who have chosen the thesis track will present an oral defense of their thesis, to be conducted by their thesis committee.
