UNIV 100 SHOWCASE

Student Projects from the First-Year Seminar

The Office of the First-Year Experience is pleased to showcase the best of our class projects from our UNIV 100 course!

UNIV 100 is a first-year seminar focused on an academic topic chosen by the instructor. The course is problem-based or project-based and engages students in meaningful inquiry and activities, developing core cognitive skills such as critical thinking, information literacy, and oral and written communication skills.

Topics included something for everyone, with titles like I'm in College—Now What?, Stalking Beauty, Truth and Identity in the Age of Social Media, Beauty and Joy of Computing, and many more.
