

Ragin' Cajun Memories

Traditions are the driving force in creating a university's distinct identity—they shape the shared college memories that alumni bond over.

UPC leads many of UL Lafayette's most cherished traditions via student committees that are as eclectic as the student body is, because everyone is part of UPC.

What We Do

The University Program Council (UPC) is the premiere programming organization at UL Lafayette. UPC produces inclusive professional programming for the students, by the students. By providing unique involvement opportunities, we create the unforgettable moments of your Ragin' Cajun experience.

UPC plans dozens of campus events, including pool parties, pajama bowling, film screenings, and much more! UPC also produces many of the university's proudest traditions, from Homecoming Week to Lagniappe Day, the Miss UL pageant to the Krewe of Roux Mardi Gras Parade, just to name a few!

Being a part of UPC offers students opportunities to participate in leadership and organizational experiences, and to have a great time doing it! Through our numerous programs, students learn to plan events for the entire campus to enjoy. We're the best in campus entertainment, traditions, culture, and spirit – for students, by students.

Committees

UPC is made up of five committees that plan student activities on campus:
