Undergraduate Advisor Trainings

The Academic Success Center, with support from the University campus community, offers undergraduate advisor training each semester. The training sessions are an important part of ensuring that we provide the best academic advising experience for our advisors and students.

The First-time Advisor Training Series will prepare new faculty with the knowledge and expertise to successfully serve as an academic advisor to students in your area. All first-time advisors are required to attend four trainings: two technology and two advising component trainings.

ADVISOR TRAININGS WILL RESUME IN THE FALL.
